Unit Assignment & Location:

1. [redacted] the 7th Division was located in Pila and the Commander was a Soviet Lt. Col. (name unknown). There were two Regiments under the 7th Division. The 53rd Attack Regiment located in [redacted] was commanded by a Major LITWIN, (fnu). The 56th Attack Regiment located in Pila, was commanded by a Major DUFAJN, (fnu). There was a rumor that another Regiment subordinate to the 7th Division would be formed. Previously the 56th Regiment was located at WROCLAW, but in April 1952 the entire 56th Regiment went on maneuvers to [redacted] there they remained until October 1952 and then moved directly to [redacted]. The maintenance and supply section which was attached to the 7th Division, was utilized by both the 53rd Attack Regiment and the 56th Attack Regiment. The 56th Regiment had 17 Il-10 attack type aircraft and 2 PO-2 trainer aircraft. The Il-10's had the tips of their vertical stabilizer and their nose painted with a 10 cm band of the Squadron color. The Squadron colors were blue, green and another unknown color. Each squadron used only one color [redacted]. The PO-2's only had their vertical stabilizer painted. [redacted]
